

Congress of the United States
Washington, D.C. 20510

July 26, 2024

Mr. John T. Stankey
Chief Executive Officer
AT&T, Inc.
208 South Akard Street
Dallas, Texas, 75202

Dear Mr. Stankey:

We write regarding the ongoing contract negotiations between AT&T and its employees who perform broadband deployment, installation, repair, sales, and customer support, of which I have been informed by my constituents. It is the longstanding policy of the federal government to encourage collective bargaining between workers and their employers to negotiate the terms of their employment under the National Labor Relations Act of 1935. Accordingly, we urge your company to negotiate in good faith to reach an equitable agreement with your employees.

As Members of Congress representing constituents employed by AT&T, we know how important these labor contract negotiations are to the economic well-being of AT&T employees and, ultimately, the company. While we have heard from our constituents about job losses at AT&T in recent years, we understand that the company has reported strong financial gains of late. AT&T has historically served as a key economic driver for our districts both as an employer to thousands of workers and as a leading provider of high-quality telecommunications services, and we are hopeful that an agreement will be reached in these negotiations that ensures that this continues to be the case going forward.

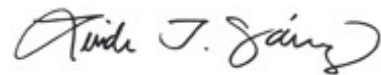

Again, we urge AT&T to commit to bargaining in good faith with our constituents employed by the company to move towards a timely and fair resolution in these contract negotiations. Such a resolution will support the well-being of our constituents and our communities.

Thank you for your personal attention to this matter of national importance.

Sincerely,

John Garamendi
